Magnetic Shielding Solutions

In 1965, Amuneal Manufacturing Corp. was established with the goal to become a top provider of magnetic shielding. Today, this Philadelphia-based privately held company is recognized around the world and across many industries as the leading supplier of quality, cost-effective magnetic shielding. This recognition is the culmination of our continued commitment to engineering expertise, production skill and guaranteed customer satisfaction.

This web site guides you through Amuneal's experience and capabilities in providing magnetic shielding solutions—from shielding theory and materials to our wide range of products and applications. However, we do not limit ourselves to these examples. Continuing to learn more about our customers' requirements and support new technologies has enabled us to offer non-linear solutions to the most difficult shielding problems.

At Amuneal, we know that innovation solves problems.
